Repasch Elected LVPC Chair

The New Year brought new leadership at the Lehigh Valley Planning Commission, as Stephen Repasch takes over as Chair of the 37-member board after he was elected during the Commission's annual reorganization.

Repasch, who has been Vice Chairman for the past two years, takes over for Liesel Dreisbach, whose two-year maximum term ended at the close of 2017.

Also elected were John Diacogiannis as Vice Chairman and Steven Glickman as Treasurer.

"Liesel has been a tremendous support for us the past two years, and we're lucky to have such dedicated volunteers who care as much as we do about the future of the Lehigh Valley," said LVPC Executive Director Becky Bradley. "Steve's been working tirelessly for a long time, so we know he won't miss a beat as he takes on his new role."

In addition, Tracy Oscavich was promoted to Director of Development for the 21-member LVPC staff, after serving three years as Associate Director of Development. Oscavich, an Elizabethtown College graduate with a Master's Degree from Lehigh University, has helped the LVPC secure several community planning grants, while taking a leadership role on such projects as the Lehigh Valley Comprehensive Plan, events planning and organization communications.
